Do solar lights have to be outdoors

Overview

Do solar lights need a lot of sunlight?

Rain can be beneficial too, cleaning the panels of dust, dirt, and even bird droppings, which may impede performance. Make sure all solar-powered outdoor lights receive unobstructed sunlight, particularly between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., although timing is less important in very sunny climates.

Can solar lights be used outside?

Post lights are usually on top of posts on decks, while fence lights with warm light settings are ideal for marking your property's boundary. One of the most common uses of solar lights outdoors is as solar flood lights for security. Technological advances mean solar-powered LED lights create enough bright white to provide an effective deterrent.

How much sunlight does a solar panel need?

"Positioning a solar panel in unobstructed, direct sunlight provides the optimum conditions for charging," says Claire. "On a clear summer's day in the UK, six to eight hours of direct sunlight is usually sufficient to fully charge a solar light's battery.

Should you use solar lights in your garden?

"For gardens with limited sun exposure, consider using solar lights that feature an external solar panel connected via a cable," says Alex at Bridgman. "This allows the panel to sit in a sunnier location while the light itself illuminates a shaded area. Solar lighting should work with your garden's natural rhythm, not against it."
