Italian low voltage energy storage project

Overview

Does Italy have a new battery energy storage system?

Italy has taken a major step forward in its energy transition efforts, giving the green light to 361 MW of new battery energy storage systems (BESS) spread across three regions—Lazio, Puglia, and Sardinia.

Does Italy need energy storage?

The partnership's growth aligns with Italy's accelerating renewable energy expansion, and thus need for energy storage. According to Terna, the Italian transmission system operator, the country added 2.9GW of wind and solar capacity in 2022, 5.7GW in 2023, and another 5.4GW in the first nine months of 2024.

What will Italy get from a battery storage tender?

Winning participants of the tender will receive fixed revenues over a 15-year contract for capacity made available to the grid. Italy broke new ground in energy storage with its very first battery storage auction, competitively awarding the full 10 gigawatt hours (GWh) of capacity put up for tender.

What is Italy's first battery storage auction?

Italy broke new ground in energy storage with its very first battery storage auction, competitively awarding the full 10 gigawatt hours (GWh) of capacity put up for tender. One standout among the awards is GreenVolt, which bagged a 499 MWh battery project in southern Italy's Calabria.
