Does Thailand need a battery energy storage system?

Thailand may lack the Battery Energy Storage Systems (BESS) necessary to navigate supply and demand challenges. The 2024 PDP draft included 10,000 MW of BESS, but this may see the country struggle to fulfil carbon neutrality and Net Zero commitments over the coming decades.

What is the future of battery energy storage in Southeast Asia?

Bloomberg New Energy Finance predicts that by 2030, the cumulative installed capacity of battery energy storage in Southeast Asia will reach 4.8CW/9.7GWh, an increase of more than five times from now. Second, the low cost and government investment incentives in Southeast Asia.

Why is battery storage a problem in Thailand?

This is partly due to a lack of clarity on how battery storage fits into existing electricity infrastructure. In 2022, the Thai government approved 24 BESS projects, all of which were located alongside solar operations. Their total combined storage capacity was 994 MW.
